Fund Strategy

The MS4 is a group of four proprietary trading strategies that primarily utilize technical analysis. The program was developed through extensive computer research and analysis of chart patterns. The program can be characterized as a system that incorporates largely counter-trend strategies or systems. The methodology is short-term in nature and positions are typically held for 2 to 14 days. The program includes 2 very short-term systems (2-5 day holding period) and 2 short-term systems (5-45 day holding period) and is composed of 3 non-trend and 1 trend model.

Markets Traded

US T-Bonds, 10 year notes, Euro Currency, Japanese Yen, Natural Gas, Crude Oil, Heating Oil, Silver, Cotton, Sugar, Soybeans, Corn, Russell 2000, S&P 500

Principal Backgrounds

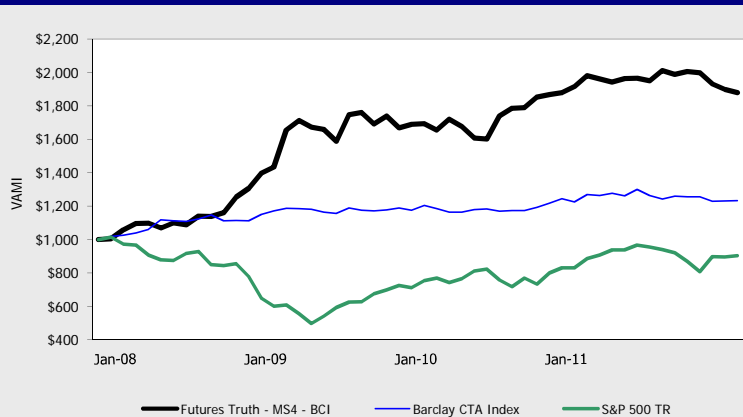

John Hill, Sr. is the CEO of FTC and has been involved in the futures industry for more than 40 years. He now concentrates on managing client assets after focusing on the development of a state of the art testing platform for technical trading strategies. Over the years, Mr. Hill has researched thousands of trading systems utilizing a multitude of indicators across varied sectors and asset classes. He has authored several books on trading techniques, including "The Ultimate Trading Guide" and "Building Winning Trading Systems With TradeStation." and has been a featured speaker at conferences around the world.

George Pruitt, Director of Research for FTC, is a quantitative specialist in the area of technical trading strategies and was instrumental in the development of the FTC testing platform and software utilized for system research. He co-authored "The Ultimate Trading Guide" and "Building Winning Trading Systems with TradeStation." He has worked with John Hill, Sr. for the last 22 years. George has Bachelor degree in Computer Science and is an expert in TradeStation's EasyLanguage and other high level programming languages. His work has been published in Futures, SFO, and ActiveTrader Magazines.

Holliston Hurd, the Managing Director in charge of new product development and Head of Marketing for FTC, managed a CTA with $200 million in assets during the late 1990s. She has been involved as a researcher and trader in the futures industry for more than 20 years. She and her market analysis has been featured in Futures Magazine, Fortune, on CNBC and at multiple industry conferences.

Team: In addition to the 3 Co-Founders listed above, FTC rounds out its team with Joe Bobek - Managing Trader, and Jessica Bonne - Administrative Assistant.
